1. What is the primary purpose of a user story?
    a. To dictate how software features should be technically implemented
    b. To ensure software tests are accurately performed
    c. To express how a software feature can deliver specific value to the user
    d. To outline the budgeting details for software features

2. Which format is commonly used to express a user story?
    a. "As a [personal], I [want to], [so that]."
    b. "Given [some context], When [some action is carried out], Then [a particular set of observable outcomes should occur]."
    c. "If [condition], then [action], because [rationale]."
    d. "As a [role], I can [functionally], so that [benefit]."